RAILROAD HEADS CONSIDER PLANS

Many Indications That Officials Will Reject the Proposal

NO DEFINITE DECISION

Only Hope Lays In Reports That Railroad Officials May Suggest Counter Proposal

WILL REPORT BACK TODAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Wilson's plan for settlement of the threatened nationwide railroad strike was accepted today by the representatives of employes and taken under consideration by the officials of the roads with many indications that they would reject it tomorrow.

Word came from the managers tonight however, that they had reached no definite decision.

With the situation thus apparently at a deadlock the only hope in the situation lay in the reports that the railroad officials might suggest a counter proposal forming the basis of a settlement, or that one side or the other might recede from its present position.

Thirty one presidents and ranking officials of the great railways received from the president this afternoon his plan for the adoption of an 8 hour day, regula pro rata pay for overtime, and creation of a federal commission to investigate collateral issues.

They told him they would like to consider the question and would report back tomorrow with the committee of managers.

At the same time the general committee of 640 representatives of the employes were approving president's plan by a large majority. The four heads of the railroad brotherhoods delivered to the president a letter notifying him of the vote. The employes' committee will remain here at the president's call.

It was reported the railway officials might suggest a counter proposal based on the acceptance of the eight hour day and arbitration of all other points instead of the investigation by a federal commission proposed under the president's plan. In case the president finds no hope for settlement during his conference with the road officials tomorrow he probably will summon to Washington some of the powerful financiers of the country serving as directors of the railroads.

Administration officials said he had by no means given up hope of effecting a settlement.

In their informal statements the railroad officials insisted on arbitration on the ground that if they gave in this time it would mean the abandonment of the principles of arbitration and because they feared if they granted the eight hour day with its consequent added expense without resort to arbitration it would prejudice any appeal they might make later to the inter-state commerce commission for higher freight rates.

On the service the threatened strike appeared nearer today than at any time since the negotiations at the white house began. Having accepted the president's plan of settlement the committee of employes took no further action tonight and awaited developments. They were expcted summons to the white house again after the meeting tomorrow between Mr. Wilson and the railroad officials.

After Mr. Wilson had explained his plan Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, actin gas spokesman informed the president that the officials present could speak only for their individual roads and that the conference committee of managers was the only body with power to accept or reject proposals.

It was indicated plainly to Mr. Wilson that the officials were inclined to stand behind the previous attitude of the managers' committee.

Mr. Wilson explained to the railroad officials that he had drawn up the plan because he thought it fair and because he believes a way must be found for averting a strike.

Some of the presidents expressed the convictions tonight that the negotiations with the white house would be thoroly considered by the executive heads of the roads before any definite position is taken.

With 400,000 railroad men assured of an eight hour basic working day, some of the operators feel it would be a question of only a short time until laboring men in some of the great industrial concerns of the country would be making demands for an eight hour day also.

The presidents realize that if it comes to a matter of a break with the white house some of the executives may be inclined to subordinate

WILSON VETOES ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL

TANGLE THREATENS TO DELAY ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

President Refuses to Accept Certain Provisions in the Revision of the Articles of War—Measure is Re-Introduced in House.

Washington, Aug. 18—The army appropriation bill was vetoed today by President Wilson because he would not accept certain provisions in the revision of the articles of war, commonly said in army circles to be in the interest of certain retired officers "at outs with the army."

Chairman Hay of the house military committee at once reintroduced the bill with the declaration that no revision at all would go thru with the bill in this congress.

Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee announced that the senate would reinsert the provision approved by the president and the war department but stricken out by the house.

The tangle threatens to delay the adjournment of congress as well as to hold up appropriations for the army increases and all the extra expenses involved in the Mexican service. The bill as reintroduced now is in the house military committee and there is an agreement to take it up and expedite the continental army and universal training plans, and the substitution of national guard re-organization which it opposed. The articles of war have not been revised in a hundred years and are said to be sadly deficient. The war department is especially anxious for changes to enable army officers to deal adequately with problems arising during the present Mexican service.

HOUSE ACCEPTS CHILD LABOR MEASURE WITHOUT DEBATE

Bill is Put on Its Way to Become a Law With President Wilson's Signature.

Washington, Aug. 18—Without debate or record vote the child labor bill was accepted by the house today with the senate amendments and put on its way to become law with President Wilson's signature. It represents the result of years of struggle in Congress between forces urging the conservation of child life and those opposing it on many grounds, chiefly that it was a questoin for the states and not for the federal government. As amended by the senate and now perfected the bill prohibits shipment between states of all products of any establishment which employs child labor. It bars products of any mine or quarry employing children under 16 and products of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment employing children under 14 or which employes children between 14 and 16 more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week, or earlier than six o'clock in the morning or later than 7 o'clock in the evening.

It becomes effective one year after the date of the president's approval.

U. S. WILL NOT RECOGNIZE DECREE PUBLISHED IN MEXICO CITY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—On the theory that an American citizen cannot renounce his treaty rights except by renouncing his citizenship, the Washington government will not recognize the decree published yesterday in Mexico City making renunciation of treaty rights the basis of future commercial concessions. There was no indication at the state department today, however, that a formal protest would be made against the decree, unless a case in point should arise. The chief immediate interest of the department is the decree's possible application to enterprises now existing in Mexico and assurances have been received that these are not affected.

War News Summarized

Assaults by British and French forces against German positions north of the Somme have resulted in the gaining of additional ground by the attackers, according to the British and French war offices. The French advance was in and around Maurepas and the British gain was in the direction of Ginchy and Guillemont. The Anglo-French attack London says, took place along the whole line from Pozieres to the Somme. The gains reported by Paris and London were in the center of the German positions on the Somme front and mark another step in the Anglo-French advance toward Combles. French troops gained more ground in the village of Maurepas, after the stopping of German counter-attacks. Calvary Hill, southeast of the village was carried by assault and the French position on the Maurepas-Clery road was also extended.

British troops advanced successfully in the region of Ginchy and Guillemont and seized mor German positions. London mentions no gain on any other part of this front The Anglo-French forces captured more than 400 prisoners in their advance.

The French offensive continues on the right bank of the Meuse, and Paris chronicles the capture of two fortified redoubts northwest of the Thiaumont work. Progress also is reported for the French east of the Vaux-Chapitre wood.

Berlin reports attacks by the French and British forces north of the Somme, but says all of them were repulsed except one by the British in the direction of Martinpuah. The French gain at Fleury in the Verdun region is admitted.

There has been little activity on eastern front according to the official reports.

The Teutonic allies have taken the offensive on the Greco-Serbian frontier, north of Saloniki and Berlin reports the capture of the Greek town of Florina from Serbian troops.

Artillery bombardments are taking place on the Austro-Italian front around Gorizia. Rome claims an advance for the Italians in the Tretino.

MRS. HELEN MORTON BAYLY SUES HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Helen Morton Bayly, daughter of Mark Morton, capitalist of Lake Forest and Wheaton, has sued for divorce in the circuit court of Waukegan, charging desertion. The bill recites that she was maried to Bayly on June 4th, 1914 at River Bank, Geneva, Ill., and lived with him until August of the same year.

Mrs. Bayly claims that on August 1st, 1914, "without any reasonable or just cause whatever," Bayly deserted her and continuously since has absented himself from her. She asks an absolute divorce in order that each party may marry again in like manner as if they had never been married and that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, Helen Morton.

GULF STORM DRIVES TROOPS FROM TENTS

Terrific Wind Has Wrought Havoc in Brownsville and Military Camp

ALL WIRES ARE DOWN

U. S. Soldiers and Guardsmen Take Refuge in Public Buildings in Brownsville

ILLINOIS CAMP UNDER WATER

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 18—United States soldiers and national guardsmen stationed at Fort Brown have been driven from their quarters and have taken refuge in the city hall and other public buildings at Brownsville on account of the gulf coast storm which is striking that section tonight, according to reports received over the army wireless at Fort Sam Houston and Fort Brown tonight.

A terrific and destructive wind, according to the report, wrought havoc in Brownsville, and in the military camp. Those troops which took refuge in the court house were the Illinois, Iowa and Virginia troopers. They took two days rations. All wires to Brownsville are down and communication except over the army wireless is impossible.

Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois and staff who have spent two days in Brownsville, left northbound this afternoon and are due to arrive in Houston tomorrow morning.

Fort Sam Houston, at 11 P. M., reported the following message from field wireless station erected at MacMacklin, Texas, via Brownsville:

"Half of New York guardsmen's tents down and nearly that many at Llano, Grande, Mercedes and Mission. Thirty thousand soldiers are sleeping in public buildings. Four and one half inches of rain fell here. There is lull now but new storm is reported coming from the east."

It was stated at army headquarters here that fear was entertained of saving the immense quantities of army stores and supplies in and around Brownsville. It was stated that a wind velocity of sixty miles an hour would damage the big national guard camps. An eighty mile wind, it was declared would level the camps, destroy canvass and lightly constructed buildings and equipment. The latest reports said it was blowing seventy miles an hour.

General Parker, commanding, ordered temporary abandonment of all military encampments. The wooden buildings of the Iowa camp were blown down, the Illinois camp was under water. The horses of the Illinois guard suffered greatly from exposure, much equipment had been lost and all roads were impassable.

Corpus Christi, Texas, Aug. 18.—By long distance telephone to Dallas, Texas—Blowing at a seventy miles an hour velocity, the forerunner of the tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico was felt tonight as it approached the Texas coast at this point, Brownsville, and on the intermediate plains. Forecasts by the local weather bureau were that the crest of the storm would reach here about midnight and that a 120 mile wind could be expected. In Corpus Christi the gale had carried almost everything moveable before it. In its wake it had left demolished summer cottages along the beach front here, and thousands of dollars damage to buildings in the business section.

Thus far there has been no loss of life, according to available reports. Ample warning of the storm, it was said had given all residents an opportunity to prepare for approaching hurricanes.

Extends to Tampico.

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 18.—via radio to the Associated Press—Damage here from the hurricane was slight up to six o'clock tonight altho the wind during the day reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour. At dark the territory in the reaches of the storm extended from Corpus Christi, to Tampico, Mexico. There was then no sign of abatement.

Damage here consisted mostly of broken plate glass windows and levelled fences and trees.

Hundreds of army tents are down and the troops are moving into the city. Communication by telephone and telegraph is lost.

Point Isabel, a gulf coast resort, reported late today that all was well there. The Steamer Raccoon at Tampico sent a radio here reporting a ground swell there.

Ten Men Believed Dead.

Galveston, Texas, Aug. 18.—The Steamer Pilot Boy, sunk in the Gulf of Mexico, outside of Corpus Christi Bay today, probably carried ten men to their death. The crew numbered thirteen when the steamer left Galveston, yesterday afternoon. Three men aboard were washed ashore alive at Port Aransas, according to reports.

HUGHES CONFERS WITH CALIFORNIA LEADERS

ASSERTS HE HAS NO CONCERN IN LOCAL DIFFERENCES

Nominee Declares "the Great National Aims" He Has in View Transcend All Local Difficulties—Speaks of Preparedness and Tariff.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 18.—Charles E. Hughes told an audience tonight that he had no concern with local differences in politics, that "the great national aims" he had in view transcended all possible local difficulties and that he regarded the Republican party as reunited, inspired by lofty traditions and devoted to the accomplishment of great achievements. Before making his address Mr. Hughes had conferred with leaders here over differences in California between Progressives and Republicans. In his address the nominee said:

"I come here as the spokesman of the National Republican Party, with local differences I have no concern. The great national aims I have in view transcend all local differences and we are together, reunited, inspired by the loftiest traditions of our historic party and devoted to the accomplishments of those great achievements upon which must rest our enduring prosperity as a nation."

Speaking of preparedness, Mr. Hughes said:

"There is a new world in process of formation. Out of the great European conflict will issue a new Europe, but there must be in a very true sense a new America to meet the exigencies of that time. It must be an America that has found itself; it must be an America that takes a long look ahead—an America planning for the twentieth century.

"We must conserve the very basis of our prosperity in conserving women and children. We must endeavor to have a contented America; an America contented because of the prevalence of just dealing between man and man, aided by wise laws.

"We cannot afford in looking into the future to fail to take account of the sources of discontent and unrest. We do not need to have a perennial agitation in this country. All that is needed is a firm sense of cooperation and of realization of those ideals of human brotherhood upon which our constitutional system is based.

"There is a new spirit, I believe, abroad in the land. There is a disposition to take account of just grievances and to provide reasonable remedies.

"We can have a humantarian outlook which is absolutely necessary not only because it is right from a human but because it is necessary from a economic standpoint."

Mr. Hughes repeated his tariff views and his pledge that no one "put over anything" for private gain at public expense in tariff adjustment if he could help it.

The nominee reiterated his views on preparednescs and assailed the administration for vacillation in regard to preparedness and for failure to prepare for the Mexican crisis.

"Mixing politics and military preparation is the worst thing that can happen to a nation," he said.

Mr. Hughes said he favored an army of citizens, trained by the federal government and responsible only to the federal government as the nation's first reserve. Of the navy Mr. Hughes said:

"Those who are interested in preparedness are not simply content in studying lists of battleships. They know the quality of our organization the capacity of our leadership. It is important in this country that we have patriotism not simply in declamation, but efficiency of government.

"When I read of the hnudreds of millions appropriated for military and naval purpose I am not satisfied. I want to know how that money is spent. I want to know whether we get in potency what we are paying for."

The nominee assailed the administration for its diplomatic appointments:

"I deplore the way men have been removed from diplomatic service under this administration," Mr. Hughes said. "I don't want anybody to say that this is just destructive criticism. That is just one side of the shield. On the other side you will find something else, this; that, I propose that we shall have trained men in our diplomatic service."

Reverting to preparedness Mr. Hughes said:

"Our preparedness will not be a preparedness that threatens, it will not be a preparedness that means militarism. But it will be a preparedness that insures our peace and enlists in the future in the cause of the peace of the world."

Mr. Hughes read the Democratic platform plank of 1912 declaring for the maintenance abroad of American rights.

"That I believe," he said, "that I propose to practice not simply to preach."

HEALTH OFFICERS END CONFERENCE

Name Standing Committee to Study Causes of Infantile Paralysis

GIVE RECOMMENDATIONS

Emphasize Co-Operation Among All Health Authorities as Imperative

NEW YORK EPIDEMIC ON WANE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—With a warning that unless measures are found for its suppression ,the infantile paralysis epidemic may advance next summer to states not now appreciably affected, the national conference of health officers adjourned today after adopting recommendations for control of the plague and naming a standing committee to study its causes.

Co-operation among all health authorities toward curbing the epidemic was emphasized as imperative, and regulations were recommended to control travel from epidemic zones of children 16 years old and under and by issuance of uniform travel permits and notification of their destinations, but without an inter-state quarantine.

Delegates to the conference, who included health officers from forty states and many experts of the public health service, expressed confidence tonight that the two days' exchange of views upon all aspects of the baffling disease would result in vitalizing the campaign against it.

Assistant Surgeon General W. C. Rucker who presided over the conference made the following statement tonight:

"We have admitted frankly and freely to the public that we have something we don't know a great deal about and the public sympathizes with our efforts to do whatever we can with the limited knowledge we have. We can't afford to leave any stone unturned.

"The bulk of traveling public should not be hampered until we know which persons are actually disease carriers."

Dr. Glenn Andrews of Alabama, said the conference was groping in the dark in promulgating even advisory suggestions.

"I'm going home and tell my folk that we don't know a thing about it," said Dr. Andrews.

The standing committee appointed consists of Surgeon C. H. Lavinder and Wade Frost of the public health service; Dr. T. D. Tuttle, of Washington State; Dr. C. St. Clair Drake of Illinois and Dr. Oscar Dowling of Louisiana. They will collect and distribute information regarding the disease.

Representatives of railroads have requested a special conference with public health service officials to discuss co-operation in regulating the travel of children. Such a meeting probably will be arranged within the next two weeks.

Disease Begins to Wane

New York, Aug. 18—For the first time since the epidemic of infantile paralysis in this city reached proportions to alarm the health authorities, the advisory committee of the board of health tonight announced with confidence that the disease had begun to wane. This conclusion was based on comparative figures of death and cases in previous weeks. For the six days ending today it was shown there had been 778 cases, an average of about 130 a day, while the week previous the average was more than 164 a day.

In the week ending August 5th, the cases averaged 158 a day. The deaths this week, it was pointed out averaged less than 32 a day, whereas last week they were 43 a day. The health department today issued the following advice to parents:

"Keep your house or apartment absolutely clean. Go over all woodwork daily with a damp cloth. Never allow dry sweeping. Screen your windows against flies. Do not allow garbage to accumulate. Kill all forms of vermin such as bed bugs and roaches.

"Pay special attention to bodily cleanliness. Give your children a bath every day and see that all clothing is clean. Keep your children by themselves as much as possible.

"Do not take your children with you when you go shopping. Do not allow your children to be kissed."

BEARDSTOWN JUDGE UFFERS BAD FALL.

Beardstown Illinoian-Star: Returning from the Jacksonville circus with a black eye, a badly swollen nose, and an injured wrist, besides bruise and black marks over his face, Justice Saunders has been busy explaining to callers just how it happened.

Mr. Saunders with a party of friends were in Jacksonville to attend the Hagenbeck & Wallace circus. While in the Athens town he went to call on his friend, Chief Davis of the Police Department and after a visit at that official's office came out upon the street, with his head so high in the air that he didn't notice an iron grating, raised an inch high off the sidewalk, just in his path. His toe caught the obstruction and the Judge measured his length on the walk.

He fell with such force that when he threw out his hands to break the fall, his wrists gave way and he crashed face downward onto the walk. One wrist was strained in a painful way and his face yet bears prominent evidence of the force of teh fall.

The Judge reported at the usual hour at his office this morning despite his disfiguration.

All Are Hit

Newspapers all over the country are hard hit by the advance in the price of paper, and are cutting down. The Galesburg Republican-Register is astonished however, that some of them should still want paper wasted on the comic sections or supplements. The comic supplement has been worked to death, and ought to be allowed to die without regard to whether paper gets cheaper or not. They have largely ceased to amuse, and in the main they simply inspire children to think that it is quite the proper thing to be smart and cute and to play all kinds of tricks on their elders. Nothing at all in their place would be better than these supplements. They fill no long felt need and educate frivolity and silliness. Then a great deal of white paper could be saved by cutting down on scandals and sensations. The Orpet case for instance.

A Good Bill

The interstate commerce law as written on the statute books was not equitable to the live stock shipper until the Cummins amendment, just signed by President Wilson, became a part thereof.

It strikes out the valuation clause in the railway live stock contract and compels the carrier to pay full valuation for live stock damaged or killed in transit.

It likewise strikes out the penalty clause, wherein the consignor was made subject to prosecution for undervaluing his stock for the purpose of gaining a lower rate.

The Cummins amendment gives the live stock shipper a fair deal in his transactions with the railroads. It protects him from the "excess freight rate," which has for months past been so handily applied because of the fact that the market for live stock had advanced to a basis which made the "limited liability" named in the contract far below the actual value of the stock arriving at market.

Live stock interests, realizing the injustice which had been worked upon them by the law as amended in the last session of congress, made a strong appeal for a further amendment giving them their just rights. Senator Cummins' measure clears up a faulty section of the commerce act and credit for its passage belongs to him.

American Shipping

During the present loud claims of the Democrats in regard to the administration shipping bill, the country should keep in mind a very important fact. While the Republicans in congress have been struggling for many years to secure legislation that would tend to the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine, the democratic party during all of that time has been in open hostility to every measure that has been presented, and has never suggested any constructive legislation upon the subject.

Now, after these years, says the Philadelphia Press, they come to the conclusion that relief may be obtained thru the apropriation of money for the construction, purchase or lease of ships, domestic or foreign, to be controlled by a shipping board under the direction of the president of the United States. They started out with the bald proposition of government ownership. For that the country would not stand. They are now driven to the new proposition that the government controlled shipping corporation shall be dissolved at the end of five years from the conclusion of the European war.

Even with this change of their original plan the whole scheme is fallacious and idle. It will inevitably result in failure and in a very large loss to the people of the United States. The fifty million dollars that the democrats propose to appropriate for this purpose will at best provide an inconsequential part of an adequate merchant marine.

Our Fifth Chautauqua.

Yesterday marked the opening of Jacksonville's fifth chautauqua. Each year has seen the successful and healthful growth of these annual events. This year the tent colony is bigger than ever, the talent which will entertain the people of this community is the best that the board of directors could find, and the officers of the association are working to a man to make this year the banner year of them all.

Mr. J. H. Dial, formerly of Murrayville, but now a resident of this city, was given the initiatory degree as platform manager yesterday. It was a strenuous day for all the officers and especially so for the new manager. The failure of the first speaker of the chautauqua to arrive and regular duties made the day a busy one. Mr. Dial has made a strong impression upon the chautauqua visitors during his first day's effort and there is no doubt but that he will do as he said in his introductory speech, leave nothing undone for the interst and good of the chautauqua.

It was late in the day when word came from Dr. Medbury that he would be unable to be here. Yet inside of twenty minutes another speaker had been engaged to fill his place. This man was H. A. Perrin, our new superintendent of schools. Despite the short time which Mr. Perrin had in which to prepare for his lecture, he gave those present a message which was worth while and which should make a lasting impression upon their minds. As a speaker Mr. Perrin is forceful and accomplished . He has had some chautauqua experience and shows well his ability in that line.

The first day of the chautauqua was a good day from every standpoint. It augers well for the best chautauqua that we have ever had.

In Want of Money

England is in such need of cash for war operations that a new loan of $250,000,000 in this country is being negotiated. Already that government is billions of dollars in debt. It would not be seking immense loans in other countries unless the pinch was being felt severely at home. The effort will be made to get the financial institutions and the banks of this country to buy these bonds. It tends to make the United States more than ever the money market, the financial center of the world. It will be remembered that a loan of $50,00,000 for the allies was floated in this country a year or so ago. That was but a drop in the bucket when compared to the needs. Fact is that the quarter of a billion of American cash wanted by Great Britain will be gone in ten to fifteen days, such is the enormous daily expense of war. These are gigantic operations and the fact that England has succeeded in placing a loan in this country is likely once again to excite a remonstrance from the Central European powers. But it appears to be a private arrangement with American bankers and something with which the government has nothing to do. Possibly the purpose is to pay for munitions made on this side of the water.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

"My wife and seven daughters," said G. Augustus Grimes, "beside the grimy waters are having gorgeous times. This climate is a hummer for heat and dust and flies, and so they'll spend the summer beneath more knidly skies." I said, "But why in Cadiz are you thus left behind? Why dont' you join the ladies, and drop this beastly grind?" "That girls may have their pleasure some man must find the dimes, and so I hump for treasure," said G. Augustus Grimes. "I like to sweat and swelter, to give the girls a treat, and so I leave my shelter, and tread the burning street, to earn an extra shilling, that they may have their fun; of course, I'm more than willing to keep them staked with mon. My daughters all are peaches, my wife's a lollipop, and on the ocean beaches long may they bask and flop." Oh, cheerful, manly martys, who drag their spavined feet, and toil like gravel carters, that girls may have a treat!

Lady "Rookies at Lake Geneva

The national service camp of the Woman's Division of the Navy League of the United tSates has attracted to Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, a large number of Chicago society women, with the result that the "war scribes," cartoonists and humorists are having lots of fun with the "rookies," as they negotiate the manly task of making beds, cooking and giving orders.

It will not be denied that many women join these camps for the society they afford, for the novelty of the situations they develop, and for the publicity that they draw, but as freely must it be conceded that semi-military camp life also develops in women a spirit of democracy and good fellowship which is necessary in war and wholesome in times of peace.

The army is the greatest democratizer and leveler in the world. In Europe it has made kin of kings and peasants, millionaires and paupers, and has developed useful men and women out of idlers and lazaroni of all degrees. It would be difficult to conceive of a more radical corrective social maladjustment than service camps. Men and women who would not yield an inch in the drawing room or business house gladly "put up" with the democracy of the camp and make common with persons they never would meet in a social way.

Women in the European countries have shown not only their willingness but their capacity to take the places of men in all the industries. Wamen farmers, miners, street car conductors, teamsters, and even laborers are becoming familiar to travelers in the war zone. It is no longer considered womanly in Europe to be helpless and petted.

Our own women's training camps may not be free from opera bouffe, and material for the comic artist, but they afford a pleasant relief from the monkey dinners of Newport and the dog luncheons of Palm Beach.

Any diversion which encourages self-reliance and usefulness is to be commended. The new women, moreover, is no longer a joke. Dr. Johnson could not in our day say that a woman preaching is like a dog walking on his hind legs, in that no one is surprised he is not able to do it well, but the wonder is he is able to do it at all.

The modern woman is fitted to join with the western representative, who when his friends expressed their amazement that a man of his obscurity should rise to the estate of a congressman, replied, "And let me ask, how did you fellows manage to get here?"

Ham Mousse

1 tablespoonful gelatin
1-4 cupful cold water
2 cupfuls chopped cold boiled ham
2 teaspoonfuls mixed mustard
Few grains cayenne
1-2 cupful heavy cream
1-2 cupful hot water

Soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water; add to the chopped or ground ham; when cold add mustard, cayenne, and the cream beaten until stiff. Turn into a mold previously dipped in cold water. Crill; remove from mold to serving dish and garnish with parsley.

Date and Rhubard Pie

Cut the rhubard into small pieces and let it stand in boiling water for ten or fifteen minutes while making the pie crust. Line a pie tin with pie paste and fill with rhubarb, placing over the top of the rhubarb one cupful of sugar and one cupful of chopped dates. Bake without an upper crust. When ready to serve cover with whipped cream and ornament with stoned dates stuffed with blanched almond meats.

Fish Rarebit

1 teaspoonful butter
Few drops onion juice
1 tablespoonful cornstarch
1-2 teaspoonful salt
1-4 teaspoonful paprika Crackers
1 cupful milk
3-4 cupful finely chopped cheese
1 cupful cold, flaked, cooked fish
1 egg
1 tablespoonful lemon juice.

Melt butter, add onion juice and then the cornstarch mixed with the salt and paprika. Cook a few minutes and then pour on gradually the milk, cheese and fish, stirring constantly. When the cheese is melted, add the slightly beaten egg and the lemon juice. Serve on crackers.

Pear Salad

Chill large juicy pears and cut in halves, removing the core. Place each half on a lettuce leaf; fill the cavity in the center with chopped nuts or grated cheese; cover with a salad dressing made with lemon juice insted of vinegar. Canned peas may be used in place of fresh.—In the September Mother's Magazine.

Iruit Punch

To one pint canned strawberry or raspberry juice, add one cup orange juice, the juice of a lemon, and sugar to sweeten. Bottle and when ready to use at the picnic, dilute with water to taste.

Chocolate Almonds

Break sweet chocolate into pieces and melt in a double boiler. Shell and blanch almonds and roast in the oven. Then dip the almonds into the melted chocolate and drop on buttered paper. If the chocolate is too thick, add a few drops of hot water.

Fig Turnovers

Make a good pie paste recipe. Roll out the dough and cut into small squares. Have ready one cup finely chopped figs which have been mixed to a smooth paste with two tablespoonfuls lemon juice. Place some of the figs on each square, fold over, press the edges tightly together, and set in a pie pan. Brush the tops with a little cold water and bake in a hot oven until lightly browned.

Novel Baked Beans

Soak a quart of small red beans overnight and parboil until they begin to peel, then drain, cover with cold water and add one cup vinegar, one cup brown sugar, one tablespoon salt, the same of mustard, scant half pound salt pork cut in small bits, and one cup stewed tomatoes. Bake all day in a well-covered bean pot.

Quick Beans

Put one quart boiling water in a kettle, add one heaping teaspoon soda, and when soda has dissolved add one pint of beans. Let them boil from three to five minutes. The white hull will then be all wrinkled up. Pour the soda water off, and wash the beans until the hulls are all off. Rinse until the hulls are all out of the water, then cook the beans as you always do—only they will be done in one hour, or your fire will be to blame.—(Farm and Home.)

CHAMBERSBURG BOYS RETURNED TO THEIR HOMES FRIDAY

Henry Adams and John Welch, 16 and 18 respectively, were detained by local police Friday morning as they were on their way to Flint, Mich., to work in an automobile factory. The police had received word from their parents that they wished the boys returned to their homes. The young men had left home with the knowledge of their parents, but without their consent. They had plenty of money and were riding on the 9:45 Wabash. The parents after considering the matter decided that it would be best to stop them rather than let them continue heir journey, and the boys were sent back to Chambersburg.

Members of B company will be given a similar excursion tomorrow.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENCE

London, August 11—There is a certain small section of British water-front where more ships are under construction today than the entire shipbuilding facilities of any other nation could undertake at one time. They include every type of craft from submarines to battleships and from steam trawlers to Atlantic liners. Most governments lay down their battleships and cruisers singly, and the lesser craft perhaps in pairs, but here battleships loom up as twins, light cruisers by the half dozen, destroyers in rows of ten, with many braces of long submarines, and an occasional monitor.

The war fleet under the hammer and the paint brush here would rank in the naval list above the establishments of several modest maritime powers. It could demolish the two squadrons which fought the battle of Manila Bay with one volley, and then steam against the combined American and Spanish fleets of Santiago with confidence. And the merchant ships in the stocks are as many as the United States mercantile marine has added to its register in several years.

"We have trained crews ready to step on board all these ships as soon as they are fitted," a naval officer remarked.

Under tutelage of Hugh Law, Nationalist Member of Parliament for West Donegal, a party of correspondents spent a crowded day on land, on water, and on ships in dock, at this base. They saw some things which they are not permitted to describe in detail, and many things which they cannot describe for lack of technical knowledge; for the ordinary man the visit furnished mostly illumination upon the vast scale on which sea power is arranged, and upon the kind of men who manage it, and their hard but cheerful lives.

The general stage setting for this swift review of the fighting and trading vessels under construction consisted of several miles of waterfront lines as thickly as could be crowded with skeletons and hulls. The stocks carried everything of the final type—until next year, or next week, for every naval campaign means new ideas, new devices, new lines of construction. Two years of active service under war conditions have brought a great advance to the British navy already acknowledged to be the leader in most naval matters. Every ship and every detail of a ship, is the last word in its class, according to the war-bought judgment of engineers and fighting officers. In one noticeable detail at least British naval architects appear to have been converted to the principle of one feature of American warships.

The monitors make an appeal to an American because there is a suspicion that other navies were disposd to scoff at them for years. Yet here they are, with all their superficial changes and embellishments a tribute to what the brain of L'Ref Ericsson conceived in the sixties. The monitors have been very useful to the British navy in this war. They have been employed in the shallow waters off the coast of Belgium, and even more effectively at Gallipoli. The correspondents there described them fully. Two or three strata of the outlying hull may be penetrated by torpedoes, and the monitor can still keep at work with her guns.

Two battleships almost prepared for the water, according to information rendered, are expected to demonstrate themselvas the most efficient machines of their family ever commissioned, and they look it. The battleship standing in the timbers on land with all its lines revealed, showing its adaptability for speed, presents a different picture from the fighting ship seen above water and has a suggestion of a racing yacht. These had been constructed in something like half the time consumed in making a big warship in pre-war days.

There were several so-called destroyers certainly as long as many light cruisers of earlier times, ten of them extended sid by side in one row, and othrs elsewhere.

Just whre the super-destroyer leaves off and the light cruiser begins is not a matter of length today. Beyond the destroyers was a line of long thin skeletons of submarines, whose size could not be judged at all accurately in a passing view, even if it could be reported. Compared with the now old fashioned submarine they are as the Aquitania to the Philadelphia.

Floating alongside a dock was a brand new submarine, painted and polished like a touring car fresh from the shop. Her young commander stood alongside and proudly pointed out some of her attractions. From his transparent enthusiasm she might have been a pleasure yacht instead of the vehicle for the most dangerous form of adventure that fighting mn undertake. "Of course we are not in the same class with Horton and Holbrook", he explained, "but I hope you will hear something from X Seventeen", pointing to the number painted on the turret. He observed also that this thing could submrge in twenty seconds.

From this largest shipbuilding station in the world, with its miles of smoking factories, and with its reverberating clangor of thousands of hammers ringing upon steel, the party travelled over night to the most extensive naval base in the world. This was a place where ships run in for repairs, for oil which is almost the only fuel of these days, for ammunition and stores. Here they are replenished, refitted, repainted frequently, and then disappear into the mists of the North Sea, of which a typical one was encountered on the morning of this visit.

The shipbuilding district was a realm of private enterprises, factories and yards where rich firms carry on their own work independently and with no visible traditions of discipline, and no outward signs of professional comradeship, except perhaps in the luxurious offices decorated with models of dead and gone ships dating from eras of wooden and iron hulls, where the directors entertain their friends in peaceful times and now by brief but earnest after lunch speech gave unneeded assurances they were working as hard as the men who wear gold braid.

The naval yards present an aspect of their own. Their whole area and their activities certainly are as There is much more to naval organization than meets the eye in the big fleet putting to sea, and the shore force has its all important work even if less spectacular and less appreciated than that of the fighting men. The naval captain in actual control of this establishment invented the remarkably complex spotting system which governs the first of ships in action and probably he and the officers of his staff draw pay which is a mere fraction of the salaries commanded by the superintendent of a ship founder's yard, if the financial recognition governments give their naval officers can be called pay.

Two years ago this was a great naval base, according to reputation, but now its extent and the array of docks and shops and barracks has been so multiplied as to make it a truly vast one.

The force of skilled and common workmen is larger than can be kept at constant employment and they must be able to grapple with emergenceis and with quick operations on a big scale. Wireless is a great aid. Every squadron coming into port telegraphs its needs, even the humble submarine does the same. The materials and the men are ready on the docks and in the supply ships when the fighting craft appear. There was an example on view. One of the most massive and swiftest warships in being was shored up inside a drydock, and that necessarily one of the largest docks constructed, to have her hull scraped. Incidentally advantage was taken of the time as is customary, for a thoro overhauling of every detail of the ship's machinery from keel to topmasts. Fifteen-inch guns, six-inch guns, turret machinery, every detachable or movable fragment of the whole complex creation was being detachd, and inspected, scrutinizd, tinkered, polished and oiled. Several hundred workmen were engaged. Miles of wires were strewn above decks and between decks, apparently in hopeless tangles, but the expert workers handling them knew what all the ordered confusion meant. The plain citizen who wrangles to achieve a modest rectification of a telephone wire gone wrong would here find cause for prayerful wonder.

Doubtless all navies do the same thing, but one gathered the impression that it is about the ultimate illustration of efficiency in complicated and concentrated work. Thru it all the sailor man displayed his adaptabilty to sleep in impossible places and positions under impossible circumstances.

The trip included a view of Beatty's battleship squadron. There they were prepared to steam for action at five minutes notice, and they did not care to steam for action with a cargo of newspaper men and a Nationalist Member of Parliament. These could not decently be thrown overboard and obviously were not worth a moment's delay. One ship carried into the Jutland battle an army officer on leave from France who was calling on a brother on board. He returned, fortunately, published it, as his mature and well considered judgment, that he felt more at home in the trenches. Two destroyers conveyed the visitors around the squadron. There was considerable fresh paint visible in splashes, more on the German officially sunk Warspit than elsewhere, but what that meant in the way of damage was Greek to the outsider. Two facts impressed an American That the commanders of the larger ships averaged about ten years younger than the commanders of ships of the same class in the American navy, and the number and variety and adaptability of the supply craft, the navy's commissary department.

The only thing approaching leisure discovered was on some of the destroyers. These sea scouts work in shifts. Four days on active duty (a very active duty) four days in port ready to start at the drop of the hat, and four days outfitting with more or less shore leave, is their program.

Some information and scraps of gossip of the battle came out in the course of talk. One item was that Admiral Beatty went thru the fight on the bridge and did not take the protection of any of the armored places which builders make for shelter in battle, and he was under heavy fire. Another, that when the Marlborough was hit by a torpedo, and all believed that she had only a minute or two to live, her commander issued two orders. One was to close the watertight doors that she might float as long as possible, and the other to fire all guns at utmost speed where there was a reasonable target. He wanted her to put in as many blows as she could at the last moment, thinking with all others on board that the last moment had struck. There leaked out a seeming concensus of opinion that a certain high officer is considered just, without bowels of mercy for carelessness or slackers, and yet men like to serve under him.

New Way to Make Apple Dumplings

Served With Hard Sauce or Cream and Sugar

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Here is a new way to make apple dumplings that will surely please every housewife, for it is not necessary to have whole apples, and the juice cannot run out and burn as with apple dumplings where the apple is placed in the center and the dough turned up around it. The biscuit part forms a crispy shell that holds the apples and juice.

K C Apple Dumplings

One and one-half cups sifted flour; ½ teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ¼ cup shortening; about ½ cup milk; apples.

Fill the cups of a buttered muffin pan with pared and sliced apples, sprinkle with salt and turn two or three tablespoonfuls of water into each cup. Sift together, three times, the flour, salt and baking powder; work in the shortening, and mix to a soft dough with the milk. Drop the dough from a spoon with the apples in the cups, giving it a smooth exterior. Let bake about twenty-five minutes. Invert the pan on a large serving-dish. Put a spoonful of hard sauce above the apple in each dumpling and finish with a grating of nutmeg.

This is only one of the many new, delicious and appetizing recipes contained in the K C Cook's Book, which may be obtained free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. Co., Chicago. Be sure to get the 25-cent size—smaller cans do not contain Cook's Book certificates.

COULD NOT WALK

And For Four Years, Could Not Stand Without Support.

Chillicothe, Ohio—"Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word of praise for Cardui, the woman's tonic," says Mrs. Ed Davis, of this town, "for I firmly believe that it snatched me from the grave.

I have been married 14 years, and had two children. After the youngest was born, I was not able to walk, and for four years, I was not strong enough to stand on my feet five minutes at the time, without something to support me.

Nothing seemed to do me any good, until, finally, I commenced using Cardui, the woman's tonic. I only used about four bottles, but, today I am well, can do my work, and walk as far as I want to.

I can never praise Cardui enough, and my neighbors cannot get done wondering at the change in me."

You, too, can depend on Cardui, because Cardui is a gentle, harmless, vegetable tonic, that can do you nothing but good.

Prepared from vegetable herbs, Cardui has a specific effect on the womanly constitution, and puts strength where it is needed.

GOOD PROGRAM OPENS CHAUTAUQUA ASSEMBLY

SUPT. H. A. PERRIN TAKES PLACE OF DR. MEDBURY

On Failure of Lecturer to Arrive, City Superintendent Takes Platform and Gives Able Address—Enjoyable Concert by Jeffries Band—Mr. Dial Introduced.

Jacksonville's fifth annual chautauqua opened yesterday at Nichol's Park. The weather man repented of his first day's offering of last year, was kind, and the day was dry and warm. The audience which greeted the first speaker of the chautauqua program could have been larger in number but taking into account the heat under the big tent the throng was fair sized.

Hon. Thomas Worthington, president of the Chautauqua association ascended the platform soon after two o'clock and after a few words of greeting to all present introduced Mr. A. C. Rice, secretary of the association.

Mr. Rice announced that the motto adopted for the chautauqua was the golden rule. He said that the board of directors had tried hard to make all arrangements for the comfort of the campers and the guests of the chautauqua association. He hoped that at the end of the ten days all would be able to return home satisfied and happy.

Mr. J. H. Dial, platform manager, was then introduced. Mr. Dial thanked the board of directors for their confidence in him.

He said, "I am here as your servant and will leave nothing undone to further the interests of the Chautauqua.—There are no ceremonies or formalities necessary in the opening of this Chautauqua—Americans do not demand such ceremonies. It is much pleasanter than last year on the opening day. I was present and it seemed that the tent leaked all over. The audience however was good-natured and had a give and take quality which is so truly American—Bryan's address impressed me then as no other speech I ever heard and was worth the price.

"The board of directors have practically worked the entire past year to insure the success of this Chautauqua. Lately from one to three meetings a week have been held. Investigation of every entertainer to appear on the program has been carefully made. A balanced program has been the result of their work. The grounds have been made as sanitary as possible, plenty of pure gravel springs water is here for you. The programs will begin on time and announcement that a program is to start at 7:30 does not mean 7:45. It is fitting to open the Chautauqua with music, and it is also fitting that this should be furnished by the Jeffries band of Jacksonville—they need no introduction."

The Concert Program

Overture, Hungarian Comedy ..... Keler Belm
Humoreske ..... Dvorak
Vocal Solo, The Sunshine of Your Smile ..... Ray
Mr. Homer Reed
Selection, So Long Lettie ... Carrol

Mr. Dial then announced that owing to washouts on the Wabash between here and Hannibal, that Dr. Chas. S. Medbury, the speaker who was supposed to appear on the program yesterday afternoon was not able to reach this city. H. A. Perrin, the new superintendent of the Jacksonville schools, when requested by the Chautauqua directors to fill in this vacancy, had accepted in spite of the short notice and would be the speaker of the afternoon.

Mr. Dial said—That as he thought it was fitting to open the Chautauqua with music and by a Jacksonville band that it was doubly fitting that the speaker of the opening afternoon should be a Jacksonville man. Mr. Perrin should be especially near to the hearts of all parents of Jacksonville and all citizens of the city, as he would have in his hands the future citizens of Jacksonville.

Mr. Perrin on taking the platform said it would be no more than right that an expression of appreciation should be made to the man who had made the site and location of this Chautauqua possible. He suggested a rising vote of thanks to S. W. Nichols, which was unanimously taken. The speaker then stated that he had taken for his topic of the afternoon, "A Two Faced Idol."

"A Two Faced Idol."

"In 1844 Caleb Cushing was appointed by the United States government to go to China in an attempt to open commercial intercourse with that country. A great wall about the Chinese republic had for centuries shut out the entire commercial world. By some good fortune Cushing and his band was allowed to enter China and incidentally later five of the principal Chinese ports were opened to United States comerce. The gleam of light which was thus two centuries ago let into into China led the way to better things in that country. Chinese have since patterned after American ideals and methods to a large extent, the same sort of development is gradually going on in that country as in this.

"Cushing and his band were standing one evening in one of the principal streets of a Chinese city when they noticed a number of workmen at the end of the street who, as they approached what appeared to be a small two story building, would stop and bow their heads, then as they turned down the other street they would again bow before the building before proceeding on their way. Cushing and his men out of curiosity walked towards the building and found it to be a gigantic human like statue, and realized for the first time that what the Chinese had prostrated themselves before was indeed the Chinese God of Gods, the God of Success. The back of this gigantic idol was carved to represent every form of work known in the Chinese Empire. The face of the God of Success was backed in this manner by labor, represented by the carved figures.

Marshall Field's Story.

"Sometime ago, I went thru the wholesale and retail establishments of Marshall Field & Company in Chicago. Hundreds of clerks are employed in the many departments under the control of this company. After our little party had been conducted thru the store we were taken to the office there sat Marshall Field, calm, dignified, pleasant to meet, a man who controlled world markets and with millions at his command. After returning home, I went to my little library and looked up the name of Marshall Field. He was raised in the back-woods district of Massachusetts, a farm boy. He worked on the farm until 17 years of age. Then he obtained work in a village store. He soon put such order and system into the affairs of this little store that it began to attaract attention. A traveling man recognized Field's worth and he was asked to come to Chicago and found a retail firm there with two other partners. The partners were Potter Palmer and L. Z. Leiter. Field studied his business and worked until he was master of the situation. Later he bought out his partners. He built a great monument to himself in this wonderful business. One can almost envy him his wealth and his control of world markets, yet, directly back of all his power and wealth, is that real work and energy which made his success.

"No name in America today is better known than that of Thos. A. Edison. He was born in an Ohio village and had few opportunities. His mother assisted him as best she could. Early in life he started out as railroad train boy and spent his leisure time in reading. He bought an old Washington hand press, set it up in a corner of the Express car and printed what he called The Grand Trunk Herald and distributed it among trainmen. He saved the life of a little girl during the time he was employed as train boy. The girl's father, a telegraph operator, taught him telegraphy. He then secured a job in the west as an operator. This was his first work in electricity. His great discoveries in electricity since that time have revolutionized the world. If you were to now visit his great factory in Orange N. J., the chances are you would find him in working man's clothing, stained with chemicals, still hard at work. Altho we laud and praise him for his gifts to mankind, his success is backed with hard work which has given him his name and fame.

"I see in a New York mansion, a little girl, a girl practically born with the silver spoon. She is Helen Gould. Every opportunity is at her command, art, music and science.. As a philanthropist she is known the country over. At the outbreak of the war with Spain, she gave $100,000 to reorganize the Red Cross Society. She also gave her personal services in the care of wounded soldiers at Wyckoff camp near New York City. We some times fail to see the other side of the God or idol of success which shows the man or woman at real hard work.

Making the Right Start

"It is quite essential with boys and girls to make the right start in life. Years ago boys could serve apprenticeship but now except in farming and a few other trades they can not do this. The public school is the proper institution to fill this want of apprenticeship.

"One definition of education has been given as follows: 'Education should be such a proper training of the student as to provide a reciprocal union with his fellow man. We are living today in a social age. We are dependent upon one another as never before.

"There are four great factors in success and they apply equally as well to all. The four however must be found to have complete success.

"The first factor is thoro preparation and knowledge of the work to be done. I believe that the students in the ward schools should have such proper and thoro preparation that when they reach the higher branches of learning they will be well fitted to take up the work in the high school and in the college. They must be proficient in reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. I also believe in manual training, domestic science, and the like in the public schools. We must train the feet, hands and body, as well as the mind, and must train them to obey the mind. The boy is expected nowadays to begin where his father left off, instead of as formerly to begin at the bottom and work his way up. As this new thought does away with apprenticeship the public school is, I believe, the proper institution to take up tis work.

Factors of Success

"The second factor, strict attention to business.

"The third, is politeness, courage and honesty.

"The fourth is a willingness to earn more than the pay envelope contains, the willingness to put in overtime in work, or study.

"The world of today is experiencing an age of specializing. Each man is a specialist in his particular line of endeavor. We are working together, dependent on one another. We should have keen respect for the work of our fellow man. We are all necessary units working together and must respect the work of each other and assume a give and take attitude."

LARGE INTEREST FELT IN LIVESTOCK MEET

State Association Will Hold Three Days Meet in Taylorville—Prominent Men on Program.

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 18.—How to pick out a well bred horse, a prize hog, or a pedigreed steer are problems that will excite keen interest among members of the Illinois Live Stock breeders' asosociation when the organization meets here in annual convention for a three days' session, Aug. 22, 23, and 24.

The third day of the meeting will see one of the most interesting contests undertaken by the association. College students and practical farmers will enter a contest of live stock judging. However, the practical farmer, unless he is also a college student, will not be allowed to compete with the college men.

There will be three classes, 1 for those who are registered for the full term in some agricultural college, a second for short course students, those who have attended the short term offered by most of the agricultural colleges, and the third for those who cannot qualify in the other two classes. The third, of course, will be made up principally of farmers.

In each class there will be first, second and third prizes, of $10, $5, and $3 each for the winners in judging the fine points of horses, sheep, swine and beef cattle.

Each successful contestant will be given a certificate of expert judge which is issued by the association. There will be two sessions each day, one at 9:30 and one at 4:30.

The first day's session includes an address on "Baby Beef," by Prof. H. P. Rusk, department of animal husbandry, University of Illinois, and an address by W. W. Wright, president of the Illinois Cattle Breeders' Association on "The Significance of Breeding Pure Bred Live Stock." Thse addresses will be delivered at the morning session. In the afternoon Dr. A. T. Peters of Peoria will lead a round table discussion on "Sanitation and Live Stock Diseases."

Wednesday, Aug. 23, P. S. Hansen, of the Illinois Horse Breeders' association will lead a discussion on some subject relating to horse breeding. The discussions generally on this day will be devoted to horse and hog breeding. EVERYONE SHOULD HELP.

The Illinois Centennial Commission is in search of pictures with which to illustrate their introductory volume "Illinois in 1918." Miss Ruth E. Hodsdon, 420 Lincoln Hall, Urbana, Illinois, who is in charge of the illustration, is particularly anxious to obtain views depicting frontier life, modes of travel, dress and amusements, and especially pictures of buildings, furniture, household and agricultural implements, which were in use in Illinoisd during 1812-1824. Any information that could be given concerning such pictures, or any relic of the period that might be photographed for this purpose, would be of great assistance.

SIX HUNDRED ENTERED FOR HANDICAP TOURNEY

Big Event for Trap Shooters Will Take Place in St. Louis Next Week.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18—The Interstate Trapshooting Association's seventeenth Grand American Handicap Tournament is to be held at St. Louis under the auspices of the St. Louis Trapshooters Association, August 21 to 25.

The entries in the main events closed August 5. At that time 561 entries were listed, and those arriving from the far western states have since swelled the total to more than six hundred.

In addition to this, the usual large number of penalty entries have been received. It is expected almost 700 shooters will take part in the contests. The attendance promises to eclipse that at Dayton, O., in 1913 and 1914, and will be near the mark set at the record breaker at Chicago last year.

St. Louis is prepared to handle the tournament. The park of the St. Louis Trapshooters Association is considered among the best in the country. The grounds are fitted with permanent buildings and all modern equipment.

James W. Bell, president of the St. Louis Association conducted three Grand American Handicap tournaments at Indianapolis, Ind., in 1904-05-06, and sportsmen feel confident that he will bring the meet to a successful close in St. Louis.

In addition to the hanedicap event, State champions will be here to compete in the national championship. For the first time in the history of the event, women will be eligible to take part in the special and handicap matches. This appears to have added considerable interest and enthusiasm.

Other events will include the St. Louis Introductory, Mound City Overture, Preliminary Handicap, Consolation Handicap, Double Target Championship and a special match for professionals.

HAGEN WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 18—Walter Hagen, American professional of Rochester, N. Y., today added the western open golf championship to his list of honors by popleting the 72 hole medal contest on the Blue Mound Country Club links in 286 strokes. This score equals that made by Chick Evans of Chicago in winning the National open title at Minneapolis recently establishing a record for 72 holes in national competition.

DUN'S REVIEW STATES BUSINESS REFLECTS SUSTAINED ACTIVITY

Distinct Gains Appear in Steel and Iron and in Copper, as Well as in Dry Goods.

New York, Aug. 18.—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

"Existing uncertainities have scarcely a discernible influence on the course of legitimate business which reflects sustained activity and in some of its more important branches shows further augmentation. Distinct gains appear in steel and iron and in copper, as well as in drygoods. Producers are either not in a position or are disinclined to accept all the contracts offered. Most of the works are sold ahead as far as they care to be with present doubts about supplies and costs of raw materials, while it becomes increasingly difficult to secure an adequate number of competent hands.

"Prevailing high prices and the inability of many manufacturers to give definite assurances of prompt deliveries combine to deter buying considerably.

"Weekly bank clearings, $3,691,-246,843."

WHEAT GOES BOOMING UPWARD FOLLOWING LEAD OF WINNIPEG

Prices at Top are up 5 Cents and Close is 3½ to 4½ Cents Higher—Corn and oats Advance.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The wheat market went booming upward again today following the lead of Winnipeg, which like this market was affected by renewed pessimism of Canadian reports as made by experts of private houses. Rumor gained currency the Canadian government would commander the crop but this was denied in Winnipeg. At the top today prices here were up 5c and the close was 3½ to 4½c over yesterday. Corn advanced 1¼ to 2¾c in sympathy with wheat and reports of further hot weather. Bullish crop advices helped oats which jumped 1 to 1¼c.

Cash premiums on wheat advanced to the highest of the season with a good export demand and light offerings. European weather generally was reported unfavorable, as was that of the Argentine.

The corn crop was said to be suffering further from another hot wave. Kansas reports as to the crop outlok for that state were pessimistic. Cash prices advanced ½c and No. 2 yellow sold at 89½, the highest price on record.

Oats livened up in sympathy with other grains. In provisions a large business was said to have been done in lard for export the market showed unwonted volume and activity.

TRADING IN STOCKS RESTRICTED TO SPECULATIVE FAVORITES.

Mercantile Marines Again Favorites With a New High Record for the Preferred on Its Gross Gain of 4¾ Points.

New York, Aug. 18.—To the further delay in the railway labor negotiations at Washington was attributed much of the hesitation and occasional reaction of today's market. Trading was very active however, but restricted to better known speculative favorites, shipping shares United States steel and Reading forming a large percentage of the session's business.

Mercantile marines were again the leaders, with a new high record for the preferred on its gross gain of 4¾ points to 103¾.

Marin common was almost as prominent as the preferred. United States steel failed to duplicate its recent daily performance of mounting to higher levels, plainly denoting realizing sales. Shares of minor steel companies were firm to strong.

Mexicans were conspicious at higher levels during the forenoon.

Motors and mnuitions moved irregularly mostly lower. Rails were comparatively inactive, Reading, St. Paul and Rock Island reflecting pressure.

High priced specialties were represented by Cuban-American sugar which rose 12½ points on a single sale to 250. Total sales of stocks amaunted to 715,000 shares.

Bonds were steady with total sales par value $2,860,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

ILLINOIS PRIMARY CAMPAIGN MARKED BY HARD CONTESTS

Long Drawn Out Battle For Control of State Politics Is Developing Many Interesting Features.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 8—The longest drawn out primary campaign Illinois has ever known is now entering upon its last lap. Three weeks from next Wednesday the several political parties will name their standard bearers in a battle of ballots which gives every promise of producing surprising results. It will involve the nominees for State offices from governor down, the wenty-seven congressmen from the State, and the makeup of the Fiftieth general assembly—the legislature which will celebrate the centennial of the State's admission to the Union.

The campaign was begun more than a year ago and has been going forward steadily ever since, excepting for the slight interruption occasioned by the presidential primaries in April. Since that time big deals have been in the making and some of them have gone thru. Not until a very recent date were the lines in the big battle dfinitely formed by the dropping out or the elimination of a number of the candidates. This elimination has applied to both the Republicans and the Democrats, with the result that the contests for the principal places on the State tickets have a much smaller number of candidates in the running than was expected earlier in the campaign.

The contest for the Republican nomination for governor, involving as it does the question of the control of the party in the States, is the big battle to be fought out in the primaries. Only two Democrats seke the nomination for governor, Edward F. Dunne, the incumbent, and James Traynor, both of Chicago. Dunne's nomination in a primary of his party which has been remarkably free from all factional strift now seems assured.

The Republican primary campaign, on the other hand, has been a long drawn, bitterly fought contest of more than two years' duration, which virtually has split the party. Col. Frank O. Lowden, former congressman and a son-in-law of the late George M. Pullman, the palace car magnate, and Col. Frank L. Smith, of Dwight, were the original contestants for the gubernatorial honor. Lowden drew the support of Mayor Thompson of Chicago and the Thompson Cook County organization. Smith started out at a fast clip, setting a pace that caused several of the prospective candidates to drop ou of the race. The Dwight man counted upon the support of the Republican faction led by ex-Governor Deneen, but he never received it.

From the first Deneen fought Lowden with all the power at his command. His campaign resulted in the formation of a combination made up of Col. Lowden, Mayor Thompson and Senator Sherman. This combination succeeded in unseating Roy O. West and Deneen from the control of the State committee. As a result Morton D. Hull of Chicago was cast into the breach by the Deneen crowd as its condidate for governor in an effort to retain control of the State organization. A bitter fight has resulted which gives every promise of being carried into the Fall election.

Candidates for minor offices on the State tickets are thick. A big cange in personnel is likely to be noted in the next legislature. Many of the men of influence in the last senate and house are not seeking rnomination, and the 1918 general assembly at this juncture seems likely to pass into entirely new hands.

A number of the Republican congressmen who were defeated in 1912, and all of those who were elected in 1914, are candidates again this year. One of the most interesting contests is that in the Second is that in the Second district, comprising the Hyde Park section of Chicago, and now represented by James R. Mann, the minority leader in the House. A well-organized fight is under way to defeat Congressman Mann for renomination because of his attitude on the Hobson amendment. The fight against him is backed by the Anti-Saloon League and some of the church organizations.

More than ordinary interest is manifested in the fate of Congressman Mann, because of his position as minority leader. It is the opinion here that Mr. Mann, if re-elected, will have a good chance to be chosen Speaker of the next national house of representatives, if that body is Republican. The congressional delegation from Illinois and Mr. Mann, chief of all, know that "Uncle Joe" Cannon, if he is re-elected in November, will not be a candidate for Speaker and is not looking for any other recognized place of leadership. Therefore the Illinois Republicans will be solidly for Mann for re-election as minority leader in December and for Speaker in 1917 if things go well with the Republicans.

GOVERNMENT CALLS ATTENTION TO FOREIGN POSTAGE RATES

Frequent Complaints Received Because of Insufficient Postage On Mail Sent Abroad.

The Jacksonville post office has received a circular sent out by the postoffice department concerning short-paid mail matter for foreign countries. The circular reads in part:

"Notwithstanding special attention has been called repeatedly thru various publications of the department and also thru the press to the rates of postage applicable to articles mailed in the Untied States addressed for delivery abroad, the department continues to receive complaints on account of the receipt in foreign countries of much shortpaid mail from the United States. Postmasters are directed again, therefore, to give the widest possible publicity to the rates of postage applicable to articles on page 16 of the Postal Guide for July 1914, and to the regulation which requires the collection of double the amount of the deficient postage upon the delivery of short-paid articles in international mails. When ever it is practicable to do so, postmasters shall also promptly inform the senders of short-paid articles mailed at their offices of the amount necessary fully to prepay the postage on such articles and to hold the articles until the senders supply the necessary postage stamps or specifically authorize the dispatch of the articles as short-paid.

"As the failure properly to prepay letters for foreign countries appears to be the result in many cases of an erroneous impression as to the application of the United States domestic rate postmasters should adopt all measures practicable to give notice to the public that the only destinations to which the two-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone, Bahamas, Barbadoes, British Guiana, British Honduras, Dutch West Indes, Leeward Islands, Newfoundland, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland and the City of Shanghai, China; and that to all other places the rate is five cents for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce, which must be fully prepaid or the letters become liable on delivery to a charge of double the amount of the deficient postage.

THE MAN FROM THE COUNTRY

The Next Best Thing

With less than half the Republican vote that Sangamon has, and two candidates to divide that vote, Morgan's chances to secure a member of the house of representatives is very slim indeed.

The next best thing is to elect "THE MAN FROM THE COUNTRY," Mr. I. S. Dunn, of Divernon, formerly of Morgan county. He is heartily in favor of an amendment to the constitution dividing senatorial districts into three distinct representative districts; he is for a state-wide vote on the liquor question; for fair labor laws; and if elected will faithfully represent the people of Morgan county as well as those of Sangamon.

Mr. Dial then introduced Professor Toten and his daughter, who assists him. Prof. Totten kept the big crowd in almost continuous merriment by his impersonations, stories, and wit. His sleight of hand exhibitions and tricks were above the ordinary run of such performances and those present were kept busy watching the magician in a vain attempt to discover how the tricks were performed. As an artist Prof. Totten ranks among the first in his line of work.

The evening's entertainment closed with motion pictures shown by Thomas S. Scott.

Chautauqua Notes.

Motorists are warned to use their dimmers within the park limits at night as the glare of the electric headlights are very blinding and their use might lead to accidents.

The oiled highways leading to the chautauqua grounds and the oiled roadway inside the park are certainly to be appreciated by all who use them.

The chautauqua auditorium tent this year is of heavy brown canvas. As President Worthington said in his introductory remarks yesterday afternoon, "the tent is guaranteed water proof, but we hope that it will not be given the test." The brown color of the big top also takes away the glare of light during afternoon sessions.

William Kituer who is in charge of the Chautauqua information bureau was kept very busy yesterday answering questions and directing visitors to various tents. The telephones supplied for the chautauqua association for the free use of visitors were in demand and had much use, so much in fact that a two minute limit sign had to be hung up.

It was announced that campers might use their automobiles in bringing in provisions and other necessaries and leave the cars in front of their tents during the morning hours, but after the noon hour or when crowds began to assemble that the officers had been notified not to permit any autos outside the regular parking limits.

Complaints were made last year by some of the older campers that some people in the tent colony were over boisterous during the hours of the night and that sleep was altogether impossible for those who wanted to rest. Therefore an order has been issued that all talking, singing, laughter must cease and silence prevail at and after 11:30.

As all are interested in the success of the chautauqua and wish to get the most good out of the ten day program it is suggested that as much quiet as possible prevail during the lectures in the large tent. Motorists should especially see to it that this tent is not passed with the cut-out open. Muffle your motor as much as possible during the hours of the sessions.

All campers were requested yesterday afternoon to assemble in the auditorium tent at 7 o'clock last evening for the purpose of organizing. There were not enough present at the appointed hour however, to effect such a society. It is probable that such an organization will be formed later.

It was announced that both north and south bound Alton trains would stop at the cinder pile west of the main pavilian, south of the road crossing.

Today's program will be of especial interest to farmers and it is believed that a great number will be present to hear the messages which the speakers bring.

The chautauqua management hereafter will sell no adult season tickets for less than $1.50, except to those subscribers who have not already redeemed their pledges. The price of tickets at the gate will thus be as follows: adults, $1.50; children, $1.00.

Campers From Over County.

Among Literberry campers at the Chautauqua are, O. N. Petefish and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald, Mrs. M. M. Crum and daughter Annabel, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crum, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Murray, Miss Elizabeth Martin and Miss Olive Hitchens.

Woodson is well represented among the campers at the chautauqua grounds. A great many already have pitched their tents and others will probably make arrangements later. Those who are on the grounds now are, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Self, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Self, Miss Mabel McCurley, Miss May Cade, Miss Ruth Gallagher, Miss Clarabell Megginson, Miss Ellen Harney, Mrs. Amos Megginson, Mrs. R. R. Jones, Mrs. Louis Henry, Mrs. Tine Whitlock, Mrs. Reuben Megginson, Mrs. Luella Henry and daughters, Emma and Lucille and George M. Cunningham and family.

DR. KREIDER OF SPRINGFIELD TO ERECT $40,000 BUILDING

Physician, Well Known Here, Will Build Store and Appartment Structure in Residence Section.

From Springfield comes the announcement that Dr. George N. Kreider is to build a twenty-five room brick store building and appartment house on the northeast corner of Fifth and Edwards streets, one of the city's best residence sections. Dr. Kreider has visited in Jacksonville on several occasions and is known by a number here.

The building will cost approximately $40,000. It will have a frontage of 80 feet on Fifth street and a total depth of 143 feet. Helmle and Helmle are architects for the new building. Work is to be begun at once, with a view to having the structure completed late this fall.

The site of the proposed building is the one where the late Secretary of State, James A. Rose had his residence for many years. The large, two story brick residence property which stood upon the grounds has been torn down to make way for the more modern structure.

Dr. Kreider owns a considerable frontage between this building and the business section of Springfield, and contemplates the erection of several more business buildings.

The building now planned will be faced with bronze colored brick and trimmed in stone and terra cotta. The exterior design will be that of a modern business building. Occupying the first floor will be two store roooms with tile floors and plate glass show windows across the entire front and extending twenty feet down either side. These rooms will be used for show rooms, with a service garage in the rear to be closed at night.

The second story will contain six high class apartments, each having a living room, dining room, bed rooms, kitchen and bath. Also on the second floor will be arranged a dance floor 65 by 80 feet, with men and women's rest rooms and coat rooms and a large balcony for the orchastra and for serving refreshments. The dance hall will have a high ceiling and be surrounded on three sides by attractive casement windows.

The building will be constructed of masonry walls and hollow tile partition walls, with re-enforced concrete floor construction. It will be one of the highest class buildings of this type erected in the city.

F. E. FARRELL AND FAMILY RETURN FROM TOUR.

Visited Points of Interest in Michigan, Illinois and Indiana—Saw Jacksonville People—Crop Conditions Only Fair.

F. E. Farrell and family returned Thursday afternoon from a three week's auto tour thru Michigan, Illinois and Indiana. While on the trip they visited numerous summer resorts and saw many Jacksonville people and friends from other places. Their main route lay on the Michigan Pike highway along Lake Michigan. About two thousand miles were covered, and the roads in most instances were favorable. The roads best for travelling, Mr. Farrell thinks, are the oiled roads. The first stop of interest to the party was at Indianapolis. From there they went north, visiting South Bend, and saw the Studebaker factory and Notre Dame university. The trip then took them into Michigan and during their visits of the many summer resorts they were at Pentwater. They visited Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crabtree and family at Omena, and continuing their journey stopped at Leland and visited Andrew Russel and family. Thence to Sylvan Bay they visited Mrs. E. A. Nixon and daughter, Mrs. Middleton of St. Louis. Stopping a week at Hyde Park they proceeded to Chicago, where Frank Huffaker, Sr., joined them as far as Bloomington, as did William McGlaughlin, who came all the way to Jacksonville.

Crop conditions generally were not as good as in Morgan county. Oats were just ready for harvest in Michigan, and corn in some parts of Indiana was damaged to some extent. Morgan county, Mr. Farrell, stated had the best crop he had seen.

A GOOD FLY TRAP.

The efforts of the community to exterminate the house fly are certainly having a good effect for the flies do not seem to be as numerous as formerly. Best trap seems to be the screen door wire made into a cylinder a foot in diameter and as high as the wire is wide. A cone in the bottom the base the diameter of the cylinder and terminating in a point with a small hole in it.

Have a large opening in one end, raise it a trifle and under it put a saucer with brown sugar, vinegar and a bananna and it is astonishing to see how the flies will get into it. They fly up thru the small opening in the cone and are trapped and can be killed by smoking at any time.

One in front of Barr's oyster house yesterday morning before ten had a tremendous catch in it, all taken that day. The traps are easily made or can be bought ready for use for a small sum.
